

Home > Issues > Issue #2014:7

About

Issues

- Call for videos
- Forthcoming Issues
- Issue #2010:1
- Issue #2010:2
- Issue #2011:3
- Issue #2012:4
- Issue #2013:5
- Issue #2014:7

Submit your video here

Advisory board

Editorial board

Partners

Contact

Audiovisual Thinking is a leading journal of academic videos about audiovisuality, communication, media and design.

Culture, Creativity and Disappearing Celluloid by Andrew Dawson & Sean P Holmes

Issue #7

Facets of the creative economy

Guest Editor: Professor Philip Schlesinger, Centre for Cultural Policy Research, University of Glasgow.

Academic Video Essays

What's new

The call for videos for issue#2013:8 News and journalism in an online environment is now closed.

Guest Editor: Assistant Professor Aske Kammer.

Audiovisual Thinking is peer reviewed. To become a peer reviewer, please sign up here.

What is academic video?

Reflections on academic video, an article making the case for academic videos, has been published in the peer reviewed journal international journal for media, technology & lifelong learning Seminar.net.

ISSN 1904-8939

Call for Peer
Reviewers
NOW OPEN!